

With "Critics Pick" and "Best of Fest" shows under their belts, creators Diana Galligan and Wanda Carroll teamed up to create a brand new comedy. The show is a comic romp about relationships and how to avoid them, so you can live the life of your dreams, as is based on their current state of singleness after going all out for love.

In the format of a business seminar, this comedy deals with real issues of our relationship to love. The theme is learning to love yourself and laugh at your mistakes. The quest for "true love" detracts from the joyous and noble path of loving yourself. With the onslaught of experts, books and television shows on how to find romantic love, this show is the exact opposite.

Join the Spinster Generation! Becoming a spinster has never been this much fun! Be what you always knew you could be - single! For women, men, married, single, heck - for everyone!

Diana Galligan – Creator, Writer and Performer

This show is Diana's third fringe show, and her first one with words! After experimenting with silent film and comedy using only expression and movement, her show Viva Vivi! won critical acclaim. She departs from the silence to create this fast-paced show that builds on her background in business, stand-up comedy, improvisation and writing. Spinster-dom is treating her well.
